

Senior Multimedia Journalist

PulseMedia Albania

Tirana, Albania

Full-Time

We are building a faster, smarter, and more digital-first media platform, and we need journalists who can do more than rewrite press releases.

PulseMedia Albania is looking for a Senior Multimedia Journalist who can lead stories from idea to publication, work across digital formats, and contribute to the evolution of independent media in Albania. This role is for someone who moves quickly, thinks critically, and understands how modern audiences consume news across video, social media, web platforms, and live coverage.

You will work directly with editors, content strategists, video producers, and leadership teams to create impactful journalism with real audience engagement.

What you will do

- Research, develop, and publish news stories, interviews, and investigative content.
- Produce multimedia content including written articles, short-form video segments, and social media coverage.
- Conduct interviews with public figures, experts, and community representatives.
- Lead coverage of political, social, economic, and cultural developments.
- Collaborate with video editors and digital teams during multimedia storytelling projects.
- Mentor junior journalists and contribute to editorial planning discussions.
- Verify information accuracy and ensure compliance with ethical journalism standards.
- Analyze audience engagement metrics and contribute ideas for content growth strategies.
- Support live reporting and breaking news coverage when necessary.

What we are looking for

- Minimum 5 years of professional journalism or media experience.
- Strong writing, editing, and storytelling abilities.

- Experience producing digital and multimedia news content.
- Familiarity with Adobe Premiere Pro, Canva, or multimedia editing tools.
- Strong understanding of social media-driven journalism and audience engagement.
- Excellent communication and interviewing skills.
- Ability to work under tight deadlines and fast-moving news environments.
- Fluent English communication skills.

What we offer

- Competitive salary and performance-based bonuses.
- Direct collaboration with editorial leadership and founders.
- Creative freedom and editorial ownership.
- Flexible and hybrid working opportunities.
- Budget for journalism workshops, conferences, and media training.
- Opportunity to shape one of Albania's growing digital media platforms.
- Modern newsroom culture focused on innovation and impact.

We care about journalists who ask difficult questions, adapt quickly, and care deeply about credible storytelling. If you want meaningful work with real influence, we would like to hear from you.
